Leading The Industry In Mite Source Materials

In Touch with Extract Manufacturers

Even after over 15 years of supplying mite source materials to US and international customers, we still find that every customer’s challenge is different. That’s why the GREER® team starts by listening to those unique project challenges. Then we put our experience and knowledge to work to find the solutions that fit each customer.

Because extract manufacturing is at the core of our business that expertise allows us to more fully understand your needs and serve as a greater resource for your project.

Within Reach for the Right Solutions

The GREER Source Materials Group works as a confidential and trusted partner to develop solutions for our mite source materials customers. Solutions like:

- Meeting customer-specified purity levels, up to 99% pure
- Monitoring major allergens
- Creating specially-requested formulations

Flexibility in Mite Formulations

GREER offers a full line of mites, including house-dust and food/storage mites. You’ll also find them in different formulations: Freeze-dried extracts, powdered, even liquid extracts. Custom formulations are a GREER specialty, whether you need Der 1, Der 2 or different levels of purity.

Consult with a GREER expert in source materials for the formulation to fit your project. Call 800.378.3907 or write to sourcematerials@greerlabs.com.
GREER® raises its mites in a dedicated facility and on a controlled medium to ensure consistency. GREER has maintained its base mite cultures from which it grows new cultures for over 15 years, helping to ensure that the materials you use are consistent from lot-to-lot.

This level of control allows GREER the flexibility to address each customer's unique challenges. Requested laboratory tests for protein and allergenic potency, using established reference preparations, help ensure the quality you need.

GREER is an FDA-licensed allergenic extract manufacturer who understands the regulatory requirements that you face. GREER prides itself on meeting domestic, international, and customer standards for quality, including current good manufacturing practices (cGMPs). In fact, many source materials supplied to GREER customers are the same materials used to manufacture finished GREER allergenic extracts. Other GREER points of excellence include:

- Complete QA/QC oversight of product manufacture and release
- cGLP development & cGMP operations
- Lot specific Certificates of Analysis
- Thorough documentation of processes and test results
- Mite source identities ensured by GREER scientists

The expanded GREER mite rearing and processing facility was engineered to handle unforeseen spikes in demand. Custom specifications, such as the level of purity of your mites, are a GREER specialty. What formulation do you need? GREER can come through for you.

For more information on how the experienced and knowledgeable GREER professionals can help you and your business, get in touch with GREER. Call GREER Customer Service Representatives toll free: 800.378.3907 or write to sourcematerials@greerlabs.com.